CANTON CITY SUBJECTED TO SEVERE BOMBING

French Cathedral Grounds Turned Into Horrible Mass Of Human Remains Children Included In Rows Of Dead Bodies

Canton, August 8.
The city this afternoon was subjected to one of the severest bombings for weeks when nine Japanese planes loosed thirty bombs in the vicinity of the Government offices and a number of others on the East Bund near the power station, Pearl River bridge and the French Roman Catholic Cathedral, the front face of which was splattered with bomb splinters. Casualties throughout the city are believed to be numerous.

The Roman Catholic Cathedral suffered heavy damage when three bombs burst within twenty yards of the front of the church, turning the Cathedral grounds into a horrible mass of human remains.

Of those taking refuge in what they regarded as a sanctuary in the grounds of the Cathedral, which was marked by a French flag on the roof, 39 were killed and 50 injured.

The interior of the Cathedral was a tragic sight of destruction. All the stained glass windows were smashed while the floor was littered with crucifixes, flowers, candles and glass. The only part untouched was the high altar and the chapel dedicated to the Virgin Mary.

In an interview, Bishop Antoine Fourquet, who has been in Canton for 43 years, looking on the rows of dead bodies, including children, said:

"I don't know the reason for it, all. There are no guns or soldiers in this area. I shall refuse to evacuate and the Cathedral, as always, will remain a sanctuary for refugees."

Bishop Fourquet was writing in his study when the bombs burst, the explosions damaging his windows and filling his house with smoke.

It is understood that a report on the damage to the Cathedral, which is the second French property in Canton to be affected, has been forwarded to Paris by the French authorities here.

The Government offices area received the full brunt of the bombing.

Reuter's correspondent counted 71 dead in a tour of the city after the bombing.—(Reuter).

Canton, August 8.
A Japanese destroyer set fire to a fishing junk off Kwangchow district near Tolshan on August 5, as the vessel resisted capture and fired back on the warship with a native cannon. All the fish, food-stuffs and salt on board were removed by the destroyer before the craft was destroyed.

Other fishing vessels nearby escaped in time. The attack on the fishing boat was due to the demand of the Japanese warships for fresh water and provisions.

Chances Of Satisfactory Settlement Of Czechoslovak Problem

UNITED STATES' INTEREST

London, August 8.
The few days that Viscount Runciman has been in Czechoslovakia had showed us that he is the right man for the job," states The Times today in a lengthy article dealing with the Czechoslovak problem. "Lord Runciman seems to have made an excellent start with his investigations of the Czech-Sudeten German dispute," the paper continues. "It appears that he has won the confidence of all the parties and a tribute was paid to him by the Sudeten German paper to the effect that he is non-party and absolutely fair."

The Times deals with the chances of a satisfactory settlement being reached and expresses the opinion that these are very meagre if both the Czechs and Sudeten Germans refuse to make any concessions at all. Regarding the three Statutes, the paper points out that the Sudeten German representatives declared that the so-called concessions were all the rights to which the Sudeten Germans had been entitled all along and which legally could never have been refused to them.

The Nationalities Statute was practically nothing more than a modification of the existing laws and regulations and did not improve the position for the minorities. It had to be admitted that the language law was advantageous but not sufficiently so. The new administration Statute was regarded as wholly inadequate.

The Sudeten Germans declared that a formation of four separate diets only increased the difficulties of the Nationalities as they were so constituted that they contained the Czech, Slovak, of Ruthenian majority, and included the German, Polish, Russian and Hungarian minority. This criticism is undoubtedly severe but actually true, states The Times. The regional autonomy demanded by the Sudeten Germans will not be granted, the paper goes on to say.

Lord Runciman's presence in Prague has relieved the tension somewhat. It is to be hoped, continues the paper, that an end will be put to frontier violations by military aeroplanes.

Regarding the conversations between the American Ambassador, Mr. Hugh Wilson, and Viscount Runciman, the paper declares that Mr. Wilson's presence in Prague is an indication of the keen interest taken by the United States in the Czechoslovakian problem. Everyone is convinced that the key to peace and European prosperity is to be found in the settlement of the Czechoslovakian problem.—(Transocean).

OLDEST EAST AFRICAN GERMAN DEAD

GENERAL SCHMIDT

Berlin, August 8.
The oldest surviving "East African German" Major-General Rochus Schmidt who was formerly companion of the famous explorer, Dr. Peters, has died here aged 78.

In 1884 General Schmidt, who was then a Lieutenant, first met Dr. Peters and because so enthusiastic about the latter's deals that he left the Army to join the German East Africa Company.

One year later General Schmidt, at the head of an expeditionary corps, succeeded in conquering Usukuma territory on the northern bank of the River Rufiji in what is now Tanganyika. In 1888 Gen. Schmidt took part in the suppression of the Arab uprising. In 1892 General Schmidt resigned from active colonial service and returned to the Army where he was appointed to the gendarmerie of which he ultimately became Inspector-General. During the great war General Schmidt headed an expedition to Palestine and Syria.—(Transocean).

Manslaughter Hearing At Kowloon Magistracy

SEQUEL TO DEATH OF BAGGAGE COOLIE ON A STEAMER

Committal proceedings against Chung Chau, allegedly member of a gang of pickpockets, on a charge of manslaughter of a baggage coolie, Chan Ping-leung, on the s.s. Tsinan on the morning of June 12, were commenced at the Kowloon Court yesterday before Mr. Barnett.

In an outline of the case given by Inspector Ritchie, prosecuting, it is alleged that three coolies, Chau Man, Chau Ping, and Fong Lum, has been carrying the baggage of a passenger when an onlooker had given the alarm that their employer's pocket had been picked. In the ensuing excitement the thief had been seen to have given a wallet to an accomplice, both escaping.

Tong Wu-lam, allegedly a witness to the whole affair, was also, he alleges, later a witness to the boarding of the ship by a gang of men, suspected pickpockets, who had attacked Chan Ping-leung with iron bars and had beaten him up allegedly in revenge for his having given the alarm.

Seen by Chau Man on July 13 entering an opium den at Des Voeux Road, Chung Chau was arrested on his having informed the police. At an identification parade, Tong Wu-lam and Chau Ping had identified him as a member of the gang who had attacked Chan Ping-leung.

Hearing of the case will be continued this afternoon.

PICKPOCKET CAUGHT IN THE ACT

Anywhere between 900 and 1800 people alight every night at the Kowloon-Canton Railway Station from the night train. This train arrives from Canton about 10.45 p.m.

Pickpockets daily find a victim or two from this vast crowd of people. At the Kowloon Court yesterday, it was revealed that complaints are made every day in spite of the extra precautions taken by the police.

Ko Ki-sang, a Shanghai silk salesman, was caught in the act of trying to extract three dollars in Canton currency and a watch from the pocket of Wong Kau, marine engineer, on Sunday evening. He was sentenced yesterday by Mr. Barnett to four months' hard labour.

THREE RUSSIANS IN TROUBLE

Sent Away From Hankow,
Came To Colony

Three Russians, who were stated to have been sent away from Hankow by the Chinese authorities, were yesterday charged before Mr. Edwards at the Central Court for entering the Colony without valid passports and being vagrants.

They were Stephan Nikandrovich Gladyshev, 35, a motor driver, Pavel Ivanovich Shitkov, 28, and Mirgas Batarin, 42, bookbinders. Explosion orders were made against them and, meanwhile they were committed to the House of Detention.

Detective-Sergeant P. J. Loughlin prosecuted.

Queen's Poppies At "Hill 104" Memorial

The King and Queen spent their last day in France on the battlefields of the Somme at the village of Villers Bretonneux. There, with impressive ceremony, the King unveiled a memorial to 11,000 Australian and New Zealand war dead who lie now in unknown graves in the shadow of "Hill 104."

Hundreds of their comrades joined in this last tribute to the Anzac unknown soldiers and a crowd of over 5,000 saw the King and Queen arrive.

The Queen wore white and the King was in morning dress with medals.

The Bravest Girl In The World

Warrior Girl Guide, 21-year-old heroine of China-in-arms, Miss Yang Hui-Min, is coming to London to talk about her adventures.

When Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek wanted to send a message to the famous "doomed battalion" in a warehouse-fortress at Chapel ordering them to retreat, he chose Miss Yang Hui-Min to carry the flag.

Just a walk of a hundred yards with two companions—through a deadly hail storm of machine-gun bullets.

She did it, and she stayed in the warehouse to the end helping the wounded.

After that she won more fame with the Chinese Air Force in Hankow. They now call her "bravest girl in the world."

As a reward for her bravery they are sending her to the World Youth Congress at Vassar College, New York, this month. She is looking in on London on the way.

She first used a rifle against the Japanese in Manchuria in 1931. At 14 she was one of a corps of student-volunteers, who marched off to the front and fought for several months.

She will be accompanied by eight Chinese delegates. They sailed for New York with the British representatives of the Youth movement on August 8.

Mr. Hore-Belisha, War Minister, accompanied by General Gouraud and several French ministers were on the dais.

With the King was President Lebrun, Lord Gowrie, Governor-General of the Commonwealth, Sir Errol Page, deputy Prime Minister of Australia, and other Australian ministers.

The long road winding up the hill from the village station where the Royal train arrived was lined with 15,000 officers and men of French infantry regiments.

The memorial, whose tower 105 feet high, dominates a countryside of tragic memories and brave deeds. The whole site, 10 acres in extent, is bounded by a horn beam hedge and a belt of pines.

Planes droning overhead, the King advanced to pull the silken cord that released the great flag covering the monument.

As it fluttered down a great hush was broken by a fanfare from trumpeters on the top of the tower.

The King, in his speech after the unveiling said:—

"It is a privilege for me to welcome the President of the French Republic, on whose soil we are standing, and to whom the events that we recall today have bound us with ties that the passing years can never weaken."

"The surroundings of this monument are emblematic of that comradeship which is the watchword of our British Empire."

After the ceremony, the Queen laid a bunch of Flanders poppies at the side of the King's wreath on the memorial.

Three good British cheers were given for the King and Queen as they left Villers Bretonneux.

EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE, SHROFF GAOLED

"I don't like the Court to be used as a debt collecting agency," remarked Mr. Macfadyen, at the Kowloon Court yesterday when sentencing Ho Shing, shroff in a knitting firm, to one month's imprisonment with hard labour for embezzlement of a sum of $270 collected by him on his employer's account.

He had taken the money in January, but his employer, hoping to regain the money privately, had not reported the embezzlement to the police until late last month.

A friend of Ho's appeared in Court with $270 to repay the "debt." In view of this, the sentence on Ho was light.

STOLE FROM BLIND STREET SINGER

Charged with stealing a musical instrument from a blind street singer, Ho So was sentenced by Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Court yesterday to three months' hard labour. The Magistrate remarked that it was a particularly mean theft.

PRIMATE'S CHARGE TO THE NATION

Bible As Greatest Possession

The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Lang, recently, adjured the nation to keep and value the Bible as the greatest of its possessions. He spoke at a service relayed from Broadcasting House to celebrate the 400th anniversary of the placing of the English Bible in all parish churches.

The supreme wonder of the Bible, Dr. Lang said, was not that as literature it was so noble, not even that in it there was a progressive revelation of God, but that, through it, God still spoke directly to men of every age and clime.

There were at least three ways in which the Bible stood unique and supreme.

It reached and spoke to the very simplest and humblest of men.

It was bound by no barriers of education, or tradition, or custom, or race or language.

It found its way into the heart not only of highly civilised nations, but of the peoples of India or China or Africa.

"To all I make my earnest plea," the Primate concluded, "that you should give it a great place in your lives and in your homes."

TEACHING OF FREEDOM

Points from other services of celebration included:—

The Rev. Cyril Cresswell, chaplain of the Savoy Chapel, where John Wycliff, the prophet of the Reformation, used to preach, praised the Bible as the Mother of Democracy. "Its teaching of freedom, love, kindness, civility, service and reverence has," he said, "produced that same democratic spirit which we treasure so earnestly in this day of changing ideas."

"I would say that our influence in the world today, this spiritual democracy which is such a priceless heritage, was born from the Bible."

MISSION FIELDS

Bibles in foreign languages were presented at the altars of three churches in the parish of Woborough, Newton Abbot. Two were bought by the pennies of Sunday-school children, three by members of the congregations.

Bibles in Chinese will be sent to Miss Clare Wyatt, a Newton Abbot missionary in China; four in various African dialects will go to Nigeria, where Miss Bryant is a missionary, and to an African mission centre where, before ordination, the Rev. A. P. Mole, the Woborough curate, was a mission worker.

At Cardiff large crowds attended an exhibition of rare Bibles and religious manuscripts at the City Hall. It included copies of the first Bibles translated into Welsh, including Saltbury's Testament of 1567. Early Bibles of Celtic races in the Irish, Scottish, Gaelic Breton and Manx languages were displayed.

A copy of the first edition of the Great Bible was on view in the Brotherton Collection at Leeds University.

SEAMAN FACES CHARGE OF MURDER

Chan Kl, 24-year-old seaman of the s.s. Tyndareus, appeared before Mr. Barnett at the Kowloon Court yesterday on a charge of murder of Tse Tong, ship's com-pradore, and Mak Hung, ship's cook.

It will be recalled that the com-pradore was found on the star-board side of the main deck after midnight on August 1, bleeding profusely from severe head injuries, to which he later succumbed. The cook was found dead, lying on a camp bed.

The Tyndareus was on her way to Hong Kong, about 150 miles out when the deaths were discovered. Det.-Sergeant A. F. Cochrane applied for a week's formal remand.

EUROPEAN SENT TO SESSIONS

Charles Hossack Telfer, lance-sergeant in the Hong Kong Police, was yesterday at the Kowloon Court, committed to stand his trial at the next Criminal Sessions on two charges of having, with three Chinese members of the force attempted to extort sums of $20 and $10 from two mahjong school proprietors, of Temple Street.

For approaching within 30 yards of a vessel flying the quarantine flag at the Quarantine Anchorage on August 7, Wong Loh-sing, boatman, was fined $25 when he appeared before Mr. Barnett at the Kowloon Court yesterday.

Famed British Personages Began Rise In Manchester

Manchester has contributed some outstanding figures to the national life of Britain.

A four-roomed house in New York Place, Manchester, marks the birthplace of David Lloyd George, war-time Prime Minister, and it was in this city that the present Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir John Simon, was born.

Manchester formed the scene of the early activities of one of the foremost statesmen of the nineteenth century, Richard Cobden, the champion of Free Trade.

Incidentally it was a Manchester man, Lieutenant Colonel Worsley, who, on the instructions of Oliver Cromwell, "took away that bauble" from the House of Commons.

The city has had great writers like Thomas, de Quincey, John Byron, Harrison Ainsworth, Mrs. Gaskell, and Louis Golding.

A Mancunian, John Alcock, made the first flight across the Atlantic with Arthur Whitten Brown, a Scot, in 16 hours and 12 minutes, 19 years ago. Flying at an average speed of nearly 120 miles an hour, they brought with them the first Atlantic airtel mail.

John Dalton, the natural scientist, who first revealed his discovery of the atomic theory in a paper read before the members of the Manchester Literary and Philosophical Society in 1803, came from Cumberland to reside here as a young man, and may be truly designated a Mancunian.

Lord Hewart of Bury, the present Lord Chief Justice, attended Manchester Grammar School, and prominent journalists like Robert Blatchford began their careers here.

In music Sir Charles Halle is still remembered, and the songs of Leslie Stuart live on.

LEADING GEOLOGIST

Sir William Boyd Dawkins, one of the leading geologists of the nineteenth century, became president of the Manchester Geological Society, and William Cawthorne Unwin, for seven years apprenticed in Manchester, is remembered for his work in connection with the harnessing of the power of Niagara for electricity purposes.

Thomas Wright, a Manchester iron-foundry foreman, started a movement which now helps thousands of British convicts as soon as they emerge from prison gates.

Wright spent practically the whole of his leisure hours finding jobs for discharged convicts, and eventually the late Lord Shaftesbury, Charles Dickens, Gladstone, Disraeli, and John Bright became associated with a national fund which enabled Wright to leave his foundry work and devote the remainder of his years to the task of helping discharged prisoners along the road to better citizenship.

EXECUTION OF LAM CHUN

It is officially stated that the execution of Lam Chun, murderer of Mrs. Ruby Challinor, wife of the district manager of Imperial Chemical Industries will take place on Wednesday August 17.

Grace Darling Refused A Stage Offer

Had Grace Darling, the life-boat heroine, cared to leave the quiet of a seafaring community for the gay life of London, she might have become a famous stage star!

After the courageous rescue, by the 22-years-old girl and her father of survivors of a wrecked ship, the blaze of publicity made Grace a national heroine. She was invited to appear on the London stage, but rejected the offer. Four years later she died.

The letter from the proprietor of the Adelphi Theatre in London offering Grace a contract at £10 a week with all expenses found is one of the relics on view at the Memorial Museum which was opened at Bambergh (Northumberland), recently, 100 years since the epic rescue.

Lifeboatmen, members of the fishing fleet, and society women crowded into the village church for the special dedication service conducted by the Bishop of Newcastle. (Dr. H. E. Blibrough). Crowds outside heard the service relayed by loud-speaker.

The museum, which has been built by public subscription opposite the churchyard in which is Grace Darling's tomb, was handed over to the Royal National Lifeboat Institution by Lord Armstrong, and was opened by the Duke of Northumberland.

DESCENDANTS SEE BOAT

Sir Godfrey Baring (chairman of the Institution), accepting the building, said he hoped it would stand for many generations as a memorial to a deed which showed the finest characteristics of our race—courage and self-sacrifice. Descendants of the Darling family were among those who crowded into the building to see the frail boat, 21 feet in length, in which Grace and her father made history.

The cobbles, which is on permanent exhibition free of charge, is in a glass-lined room, the floor of which is covered with silver sand from the beach.

Other relics in the adjoining room include a lock of Grace's hair, the gold medal presented to her by the Royal Humane Society, letters and clothing.

INDEPENDENCE FOR INDIA

Pandit Nehru's Demand For Quick Action By Britain

The following statement was given by Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, the Indian Nationalist leader and last year's president of the Indian National Congress, recently:

I have had the privilege of meeting a large number of persons belonging to all parties and viewpoints in England during the past months. I have discussed Indian problems and international problems with them, and I must say that I have found a new appreciation of the Indian problem among widely divergent groups. There is not the same complacency as there used to be.

This has, no doubt, come from a realisation of the strength of the Nationalist movement and the powerful and widespread urge for independence, as well as from the apprehension as to India's part in a great world crisis which always seems to be impending.

India obviously can play a part in such a crisis which might make a difference, and thus the Indian problem becomes a part of the world problem and cannot be separated from it.

In regard to world affairs Indian opinion is entirely anti-Fascist and there is complete disapproval of the British Government's foreign policy, which is considered pro-Fascist and pro-France. This has become an additional barrier between India and the British Government and has intensified our desire to have full control of our foreign policy, which can only come through independence.

But anti-Fascist as India is, it is also fundamentally and inevitably anti-Imperialist. It is because she is anti-Imperialist that she is anti-Fascist.

Weather News By Balloon

AUTOMATIC REPORTS FROM NINE MILES UP

About 1,500 scientists from all parts of Great Britain were welcomed at Teddington, Middlesex, recently, by Sir William Bragg, President of the Royal Society, for the annual inspection of the National Physical Laboratory, says the Daily Telegraph.

They filed into the hall, in which is housed the 1,000,000-volt electrical plant. Each shook hands with Sir William, Lord Rayleigh, chairman of the Executive Committee, and Dr. W. L. Bragg, Director of the Laboratory.

After the reception there was a demonstration in the grounds of the reception of automatic messages from meteorological balloons.

A balloon was released to which a short-wave transmitter was attached. This sends out two modulated notes indicating either pressure or temperature. It works on a wave-length of 81 metres.

An official explained that the balloon would probably travel 150 miles, and might reach a height of nine miles. When it bursts the transmitter floats to earth on a parachute. Attached is a card with instructions in English and French for forwarding information of its discovery. There is a 5s reward for the finder.

REDUCING TUBE NOISE

A tour of the laboratory showed how science is dealing with everyday problems.

A double-wall room has been built from which motor-cycle noise is measured. A motor-cycle engine is run inside the room, with the silencer projecting through a hole in the wall. The sound emitted is picked up by a microphone connected to measuring instruments in another room.

Similar tests being made concern the silencing of aircraft, the noise of London tube trains, and the efficiency of air-raid warning devices.

Other aspects of the laboratory's work include:

Ships.—Tests on 68 vessels were carried out in 1937. The fuel consumption of four was reduced by more than 20 per cent.

Physics.—More than £1,000,000 worth of radium was tested at the laboratory during the year. Members of the staff visited hospitals to find lost radium. It is detected by an apparatus which emits a clicking sound. Radium has often been found in dustbins, ashes, and used dressings.

Metrology.—All the taximeters in London, some 20,000, are tested each year for the Commissioner of Police.

Engineering.—Models to test wind pressure include one of a section of London.

Arms Exports Scare

WAR MATERIAL MOSTLY SENT TO EMPIRE

Wading through statistical abstracts, summaries and reports pouring from His Majesty's Stationery Office, M.P.s. were staggered recently to find, tucked away on a back page of Board of Trade President Oliver Stanley's monthly import and export returns, seeming evidence of a serious arms "leakage."

Official statistics revealed that in spite of the lag in carrying through this country's own rearmament programme, British firms were exporting aircraft and war material worth more than £1,000,000 a month.

Aircraft exports during May soared to £558,000—more than three times the total for April; for the first five months of the year they totalled £2,371,000, against £1,182,000 for the same period last year. Sales of arms, ammunition, torpedoes, submarine mines and other naval and military stores jumped from £1,388,000 to £12,179,000.

EMPIRE'S NEEDS.

To Opposition Members this was ripe material for a "question in the House." Indignant assertions were made that the exported arms might eventually be used against Britain.

Only Board of Trade officials can tell exactly where Britain's stream of arms exports is now flowing, but defence experts pointed out that the statistics included exports to other parts of the Empire. Beside Britain, Eire, Canada, Australia, South Africa and New Zealand are all committed to rearmament programmes, and the majority of their orders are placed with British firms.

Latest itemised annual returns, published last September, disclosed that the biggest "foreign" purchaser of British war materials and planes was the Australian Government. Arms firms thus felt reasonably sure that their products were unlikely to be used against Britain in the event of war.

ORDER TO U.S.

Biggest single purchase ever made abroad was the order placed in the United States for 400 training and reconnaissance aircraft. So unusual was this step that both the Air Council and the Air Ministry Supplies Committee refused to take final responsibility for the deal.

The actual decision, though announced through the Ministry, was made by the full Cabinet, after Sir Kingsley Wood, Air Minister, had informed the Premier that American supplies were essential to filling the gap in the arms programme.

British Cruiser Saves Crew Of Bombed Ship

R.M.S. Shropshire arrived at Marseilles recently with the crew of the Danish vessel Bodil (844 tons), which had been bombed and sunk within sight of the warship 80 miles from Barcelona.

Shropshire was 11 miles away when the outrage occurred.

Her commander ordered full speed ahead to the rescue. When the warship arrived on the scene the Bodil had sunk and her crew had taken to the boats.

The cruiser picked them up and continued on her voyage from Palma, Majorca, to Marseilles.

Free-Speech And Thought

The British Government has refused to prohibit a meeting of Free Thinkers announced to be held in Britain in September. The meeting has been convened by a body calling itself the International Congress of the World Union of Free Thinkers.

Application to have it prohibited was made to Sir Samuel Hoare, the Home Secretary, by Captain Archibald H. M. Ramsay and seventy other Members of Parliament acting on behalf of the Christian Defence Movement.

Sir Samuel Hoare in reply said that while he personally deplored the holding of a free thinking congress as being "repugnant to the sentiment of the great mass of Christian people in Britain" he not only had no power to prohibit it, but to do so, provided it be orderly, would in his opinion be contrary to "a long and cherished tradition of liberty and toleration which in these times it is more than ever important to maintain."

Britain properly prides itself upon allowing freedom both of meeting and of speech. To adopt any other line would be a negation of that liberty which English-speaking races prize.

THE KING SEES LAND DREADNOUGHTS

France's New Two-Storey Tanks

Big two-storey tanks carrying a small field gun on the ground floor and machine-guns pointing to front and rear from a cupola above, were the most impressive feature of the review of 50,000 men, which took place before King George and President Lebrun in the long avenue leading up to the Palace of Versailles recently, says the Daily Mail.

These land dreadnoughts had never been publicly shown in France before. They embody the various lessons in tank construction which have been derived from observation of the war in Spain.

Their caterpillar tracks are covered with armoured shields, so as to protect them from attempts to break the treads by throwing hand grenades under them from the side.

Marshal Petain and all the members of the Superior War Council were waiting for the King, who drove from the station at Versailles to a stand in front of the town hall. His Majesty was in Field Marshal's khaki uniform, while M. Lebrun wore a morning coat and top hat.

SPAHIS FLOWING CLOAKS

All the various elements of the French Army, both metropolitan and colonial, were represented in the march-past.

Cavalry led the way, dragons and cuirassiers being followed by Algerian and Moroccan Spahis, in flowing white cloaks, who stood up-right in their flat stirrups as their little white and dappled barbs went past at the trot.

Among the infantry were to be seen black Senegalese and brown natives of Algeria as well as white French colonial troops and battalions of the home army.

The motorised artillery and cavalry were the most impressive part of the parade. Light and heavy guns, anti-aircraft batteries, anti-tank guns, and mechanised cavalry armed with machine-guns carried in side-cars, all thundered past the King, who showed the keenest interest in them, and in the 500 or 600 tanks that followed.

THE KING'S 60 SALUTES

As each set of regimental flags went past the King and the President rose from their seats and stood at attention while the King saluted.

Sixty times they had to rise and salute as the proud blue, white, and red flags of France were lowered in salute before them.

NEW ZANE GREY EPIC

The latest Zane Grey film, "Wild Horse Mesa," opens at the Alhambra Theatre, today.

Randolph Scott, who scored such a success in "Heritage of the Desert," gives another fine performance in the leading role. He appears as Chane Weymer, friend of the Indians, who makes it his business to bring to justice Rawlins (Fred Kohler) who has been rounding up wild horses belonging to the Indians.

Sally Blane, the heroine of "Heritage of the Desert," is charming in the romantic lead. James Bush does a good job as Chane's younger brother, and Lucille La Verne and Charley Grapewin contribute magnificent characterizations as the mother of the heroine and a retired sailor.

INNOCENTS IN THE SAHARA

Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy join the Foreign Legion in the comedy, "Beau Hunks," which is showing today at the King's Theatre.

Heartbroken and disillusioned after being rejected by a siren, Hardy decides to forget her and induces Laurel to make the trip to the Sahara with him.

There they run into all sorts of scrapes with the natives and veiled beauties, making the picture one of the best this famous team has made.

MACLEAN CHIEFSHIP CASE ENDS

Lord Lyon Now Considers Judgment

Would prospective young husbands search the records at the Lyon Office to see if their future brides had differed or undifferenced arms?

That was the question Mr. Hector M'Kechnie asked the Lyon Court in Edinburgh recently when summing up in favour of Lieutenant Commander Maclean at the conclusion of the hearing in connection with the chiefs of the Macleans of Ardgour.

The Lord Lyon King-of-Arms right to use his arms. In his sub-mission, the losing of this case that he would take the case to avizandum. This came after a nine-day sitting and two years of litigation, and all that remains now is for the Lord Lyon to give his judgment after consideration of the evidence.

"PATHETIC PICTURE"

The counter-petitioners are 18-year old Catriona Louise Maclean of Ardgour and her kinsman-opponent is Lieutenant Commander H. H. Maclean of Windhover, Hampshire, a retired naval officer.

Mr. M'Kechnie said that Mr. Thomas Innes of Learney, Albany Herald, appearing for Miss Maclean, had presented a pathetic picture of what would happen if Miss Maclean lost her case.

"What difference will it make to her prospects of marriage if her arms were differed or undifferenced?" asked Mr. M'Kechnie. "I think that it will make none at all," he continued.

"Did they imagine that prospective young husbands would search the records of the Lyon Office before proposing? Did they see many young husbands with tears in their eyes leaving the Lyon Office, having found that the girl does not have undifferenced arms?"

RIGHT TO USE ARMS

"No husband worthy of marrying would do such a thing," declared Mr. M'Kechnie.

If Miss Maclean does not get the undifferenced arms of her father, the late chief of the Macleans of Ardgour, she still remains his daughter, and still has the

IN LOVE WITH A MILKMAN

"Maid's Night Out," RKO Radio's new comedy romance which opens at the Queen's Theatre today, provides the audience with an hour of lively action and sparkling dialogue, with Joan Fontaine and Allan Lane in the leading roles.

The amusing story reveals Miss Fontaine as a society girl whose flutery mother has contrived a marriage between her and a wealthy fop, but who has fallen in love with a milkman.

PROPOSAL BY THE JAPANESE IS REFUSED BY M. LITVINOV

SOVIET DOES NOT INTEND TO ALLOW PERIODICAL KILLING OF GUARDS

Protest Is Inadequate

Moscow, August 8.

The Japanese Ambassador, Mr. Mamoru Shigemitsu, yesterday saw M. Maxim Litvinov, Soviet Foreign Commissar, and proposed that both sides should cease fighting on the Soviet-Manchukuo-Korean frontier and that they retain the positions occupied the moment an agreement was reached.

This proposal was refused by M. Litvinov, who added that there would be more fighting as each side would try to gain advantage before an agreement is arrived at.

M. Litvinov made counter-proposals that hostilities should cease when both sides agreed not to cross or shoot across the boundary line marked out in 1868 between Russia and China. Shigemitsu could not agree to this point.

JAPAN'S PLAN

M. Litvinov accused the Japanese Government of deliberately seeking to involve Japan in a war with the Soviet, and pointed out that the scale of the present operations far exceeded the usual frontier incident. Artillery, for instance, was used.

It was also pointed out by M. Litvinov that the conflict had spread to another district, namely Grodskovo, where a Japanese company with three machine-guns suddenly attacked the Soviet border post guarding a hill on Soviet territory and occupied this hill.

Soviet reinforcements were fired on by another Japanese company, which later retreated to Manchurian territory.

Several members of the Soviet Red Army were wounded in the encounter, and there were evidently also Japanese casualties.

SOVIET WARNING

M. Litvinov said that the Soviet considers a protest inadequate and gave warning that it does not intend in future to allow periodic killing and wounding of frontier guards or even a temporary invasion of Soviet territory by Japanese troops.

Mr. Shigemitsu was informed that the Soviet Government is determined to use artillery and aeroplanes as well as other means to prevent such incidents.—(Reuter).

NEW INSTRUCTIONS

Tokyo, August 8.

The Japanese Foreign Office has given new instructions to the Japanese Ambassador in Moscow, Mr. Shigemitsu, for his next conference with M. Litvinov regarding the frontier incident. It was revealed here yesterday.

It is believed that the Ambassador has been instructed to lodge a strong protest against the latest Soviet attacks on the Japanese positions in the Changkufeng district.—(Transocean).

SOVIET CLAIMS

Moscow, August 8.

Japanese troops have been dislodged from Soviet territory. They were driven off the land which Russia claims as hers three days ago, according to a communique from the headquarters of the First Maritime Army.

It is stated that Soviet troops "strongly occupied" all border posts after an artillery duel which lasted three to four hours, with infantry and aircraft participating in the struggle.

The communique does not mention the outcome of the subsequent fighting. Earlier dispatches said the Japanese had repulsed all Russian assaults.

On Friday, the communique adds, "the day after Mr. Shigemitsu made his 'peaceful' proposals to M. Litvinov, Japanese troops stationed beyond Lake Khassan opened intense fire upon Soviet territory."

ARTILLERY DUEL

"Many guns of all calibres, including heavy artillery, were fired from Manchukuo territory, covering the operations of Japanese infantry which launched an offensive against the Soviet troops."

"The Soviet troops returned the artillery fire."

"After an artillery duel lasting three to four hours, as a result of which the Japanese artillery was silenced, Soviet troops, with aircraft participating, launched a counter-offensive. The Soviet troops cleared Soviet territory of the remnants of Japanese troops and firmly occupied frontier posts belonging to the U.S.S.R."—(Reuter).

JAPANESE POSITIONS BOMBED

Tokyo, August 8.

A communique issued by the Japanese War Ministry last night states that more than 100 Soviet bombers appeared over Changkufeng on Saturday in the largest military demonstration since the beginning of the hostilities and bombed the Japanese positions in the region as well as the Railway station and the military depot on the south bank of the Tumen River.

All attempts by Soviet troops to force the Japanese out of their positions southeast of Changkufeng were repulsed, according to the Japanese communique, after fierce hand to hand fighting.—(Transocean).

NEW INCIDENT

Tokyo, August 8.

Another border incident was reported last night by the Japanese Kwantung Army headquarters, it being declared that 12 Soviet soldiers crossed the frontier and began to dig trenches near Sulfenho.

In the ensuing clash with Manchukuoan troops, two Russians were killed and one taken prisoner, the communique adds.—(Transocean).

JAPANESE DROP POISON FROM PLANES

Six Japanese planes which passed over Whampoa on Saturday morning scattered small pieces of cotton treated with a certain poison causing sores upon contact with human skin, state Chinese reports from Canton.

These clusters of poisoned cotton fluttered down like snowflakes near Tungpo village, and some peasants working in the fields were affected when the cotton dropped on their heads and shoulders.

The victims immediately returned to the village for treatment, but one received such serious wounds that chances for his recovery are said to be not very bright.

CHINESE EVACUATE HAIYEN

Shaoshan, August 8.

After a full week's gallant stand, Chinese troops have again abandoned the town of Haiyen, on the north Chekiang coast along the Shanghai-Hangchow highway.

Effecting an orderly withdrawal in order to minimise avoidable losses, the Chinese suffered only a small number of casualties in giving up Haiyen, and have retreated to the outskirts of the town, where they are receiving effective support from the civilian populace for fresh attempts.

A column of Chinese guerrillas, after retreating from Haiyen, has retaken Yuanhuachen and is advancing towards Shaochen.—(Central News).

FOOT ITCH

Athlete's Foot

According to the Government Health Bulletin No. E-28, at least 50% of the adult population of the United States are being attacked by the disease known as Athlete's Foot.

Usually the disease starts between the toes. Little watery blisters form, and the skin cracks and peels. After a while the itching becomes intense, and you feel as though you would like to scratch off all the skin.

BEWARE OF IT SPREADING

Often the disease travels all over the bottom of the feet. The soles of your feet become red and swollen. The skin also cracks and peels, and the itching becomes worse and worse.

Get rid of this disease as quickly as possible, because it is very contagious and it may go to your hands or even to the under arm or crotch of the legs.

Most people who have Athlete's Foot have tried all kinds of remedies to cure it without success. Ordinary germicides, antiseptics, salve or ointments seldom do any good.

HERE'S HOW TO TREAT IT

The germ that causes the disease is known as Tinea Trichophyton. It buries itself deep in the tissues of the skin and is very hard to kill. A test made shows it takes 15 minutes of boiling to kill the germ; so you can see why ordinary remedies are unsuccessful.

H. F. was developed solely for the purpose of treating Athlete's Foot. It is a liquid that penetrates and dries quickly. You just paint the affected parts. It peels off the tissue of the skin where the germ breeds.

ITCHING STOPS IMMEDIATELY

As soon as you apply H. F. you will find that the itching is immediately relieved. You should paint the infected parts with H. F. night and morning until your feet are well. Usually this takes from three to ten days, although in severe cases it may take longer or in mild cases less time.

H. F. will leave the skin soft and smooth. You will marvel at the quick way it brings you relief, especially if you are one of those who have tried for years to get rid of Athlete's Foot without success.

Fire Rages On Cruise Liner

RELIANCE MAY BECOME TOTAL LOSS

Hamburg, August 8.

It is feared that the Hamburg-America Line's crack world cruise liner, the Reliance, may become a total loss as the result of a day-long fire which raged amidships yesterday.

The superstructure has been completely burned out and firemen are still pumping water on the debris.

The blaze broke out when decorations for a ball, held a few hours before the vessel was due to leave on a cruise with 400 passengers, caught alight.—(Reuter).

NATIONALISTS REGAIN EBRO POSITIONS

Counter-Offensive Successful

Saragossa, August 8.

The Spanish Nationalists claim that as a result of their counter-offensive on the Ebro front, launched with success on Saturday, they have regained complete control on the right bank of the Ebro between Fayon and Mequinenza.

It is estimated that two Republican divisions were virtually destroyed.—(Reuter).

ALTO DE LOS AUTS

Barcelona, August 8.

A Republican Defence Ministry communique admits that the Nationalists have occupied Alto de Los Auts, north of Fayon on the Ebro front, but claims that the Nationalists lost heavily and that other Nationalist attacks were repulsed.—(Reuter).

FAMOUS AUTHOR TO ASSIST IN REFUGEE WORK

Mrs. Pearl S. Buck
Sailing For China

Mrs. Pearl S. Buck, famous author of "The Good Earth" and other novels dealing with China, will shortly sail from America for China to collect material for further literary works and to volunteer her assistance in refugee relief work, according to letters received by her friends here.

Born in China of missionary parents, Mrs. Buck formerly lived in Nanking, where her husband, Dr. J. Lossing Buck, was engaged in educational work. Three years ago, Mrs. Buck obtained a divorce and married Mr. Richard J. Walsh, publisher of Asia Magazine.

Taking to writing at an early age, Mrs. Buck contributed small bits to the Shanghai Mercury when she was still in her teens. She had written two or three novels before "The Good Earth," the first of the Wang trilogy, brought her international fame.

Mrs. Buck is a prolific writer, and her articles and stories on China are in great demand.

TRAGIC DEATH OF MR. G.C. SMITH

Mr. G. Channing Smith, well-known local American broker, met his death under tragic circumstances in the early hours of yesterday. His body was found on the roof of White House and it is believed that he leapt from his office on the ninth floor of the Bank of East Asia building between 3 and 4 a.m. The body was entirely naked.

The late Mr. Smith, whose age was 47, was seen at a local cabaret on Sunday about midnight. He was last seen alive at 3 a.m. He had left his office at 2 a.m. but returned at 3 a.m. He was seen by the office coolie who sleeps in the building. Investigations revealed that Mr. Smith had neatly folded his clothing.

Inquiries from some of his friends revealed that the late Mr. Smith was married, and had four children. He was a native of Baltimore, Maryland, and formerly had business connections in Wall Street. He came to China about 20 years ago. He had been in Hong Kong for the last six years and had been engaged chiefly in mining business.

RAINFALL STILL BELOW NORMAL

Rainfall for the week-end—that is, from 10 a.m. on Saturday to 10 a.m. yesterday—totalled 3.11 inches. This, however, only brings the year's total to 40.95 inches, against an average of 56.92.

The maximum temperature yesterday was 86.9, against 86° the day before.

DESTROYER STOPS PIRACY

S.S. St. Vincent de
Paul Unharmed

The St. Vincent de Paul, British steamer which signalled for assistance and was believed to have been attacked by pirates 100 miles north of Shanghai some days ago, arrived safely in Shanghai last week.

Inquiries revealed that an attempt was made to hold up the ship and relieve her of some of her cargo. The robbery was frustrated by the appearance of H.M.S. Delight which stood by for some time and left the scene after she made certain that the steamer was not harmed and out of danger.

WHERE NOW FOR FINANCES?

JAPAN, Land of the Rising Sun,
and once the playground of the Far East, must be a miserable country to live in these days.
The national equilibrium has been rocked to its foundations by the greed of the militarists, and so great, indeed, has been the shock caused by the China War that it is extremely doubtful if Japan will be able to regain even a fraction of her old-time prosperity.

The cause of the whole trouble
may be traced to the fact that when hostilities commenced the militarists of Japan, over-confident regarding their own strength, sadly under-estimated the fighting strength of a united China. Or it might have been that they rather counted on a disunited China, but that is their own misfortune and is no excuse at all for the plight
into which they have plunged their own country.

News has been steadily received
in the Colony regarding the loss
of trade, imports, exports and shipping, suffered by the Nipponese
since the undeclared war began.
With each succeeding message the
situation becomes steadily worse
and now we have from an unimpeachable source that the internal situation has become worse than ever.

AND the cause of this? It is not difficult to seek. An examination of the financial situation
revealed the fact that the whole
of the special appropriation of Yen
4,800,000,000 for military operations
in China, approved by the Diet
last March, will have been exhausted before the end of the present fiscal year, that is to say
in March 1939. Although that appears to be a long way ahead,
those in charge of the operations
are already scratching their
heads, wondering how and
where further funds may be raised if the war against China is
to be continued.

Consulted on the subject, the Finance Ministry blandly stated
that it could not hope to save
more than Yen 180,000,000 in the
current general and special accounts. That was before the tension arose between Japan and Soviet Russia. Since then considerable sums have had to be spent
on troop movements etc., so that
the position has become even more
serious than it was at first feared.

The Cabinet will hold a special meeting shortly to devise ways and
means of meeting the latest
emergency that has confronted
the country, but those who have
an intimate knowledge of the true
situation in Japan fail to see how
the money can be raised. For one thing, the people have given as much as they can. Let down by the militarists more times than
can be imagined over the "successful conclusion of the war," with

its attendant rewards to those who
helped to finance the campaign,
even the most patriotic of the Nipponese have had enough of it
and are not inclined to be exploited any further.

WHAT then will be the next
step to be taken by the Japanese Government—a Government that is purely military? Used to having things their own way Japan's war
lords will not be pleased with any
opposition; but by now the civilian
population have become equally
determined to spend no more on a
war that was not of their asking.
If the Government should deem it
desirable and expedient to fully
enforce the provisions of the National Mobilisation Bill, what will
the next move be on the part of
the civilians?

The answer should not be far to seek, but it would nevertheless be interesting to see (or rather hear)
what excuses the spokesmen of Nippon will have
to offer to the world when the
time comes for the
"Show down," for
it is generally expected that this
will come about in the not too far distant future.

AND while we are on the subject
of the consequences of the Sino-Japanese hostilities, let us
also examine the situation in China. A totally different outlook!
The country has grown more
united than in any period of her
history. The morale of the people
remains at the highest pitch and
the future is viewed, not in dread
as is the case with Japan, but hopefully.

China, confident of ultimate
victory, has plans for the rehabilitation and reconstruction of
her vast territories... work when completed, that will put her on an equal footing with the most modern
countries in the world.

full reconstruction of the port's

plete."

MORE EXTENSIONS

Sir George stressed the necessity for even larger extensions to the Singapore wharfs that had been possible before. When he returns next year, Sir George says, he hopes to see that in less than a year Singapore will have changed
a great deal, especially as regards
her port facilities.

His Excellency Sir Shenton
Thomas was present to say good-bye to Sir George Trim-
mer. Before he left he "borrowed" a silver coin from his aid-de-camp Capt. R. A.
Gwyn, which he placed in Sir
George's palm.

This was a token for the pair of scissors which he had used the previous evening in opening the meat wharf extension scheme.

Others who said good-bye to Sir
George were the General Officer Commanding, Malaya, Major-General W. G. S. Dobbie, the Lord
Bishop of Singapore and Mrs.
Roberts, Mr. A. B. Jordan, Protector of Chinese, Harbour Board
officials, and Government officers.

Acting for Sir George Trimmer was Mr. H. K. Rodgers, former local Chairman, who is rumoured as likely to succeed Sir George as Chairman.

KING BORIS GOES
ON TOUR

Sofia, August 8.

King Boris of Bulgaria left yesterday for Italy where he will pass

Following his sojourn in Italy King Boris will continue his journey to Switzerland, travelling incognito, and will also visit several other European capitals including London.—(Transocean).

News has been steadily received
in the Colony regarding the loss
of trade, imports, exports and shipping, suffered by the Nipponese
since the undeclared war began.
With each succeeding message the
situation becomes steadily worse
and now we have from an unim-
peachable source that the internal
situation has become worse than
ever.

AND the cause of this? It is not difficult to seek. An examination of the financial situation
revealed the fact that the whole
of the special appropriation of Yen
4,800,000,000 for military operations
in China, approved by the Diet
last March, will have been exhausted before the end of the
present fiscal year, that is to say
in March 1939. Although that appears to be a long way ahead,
those in charge of the operations
are already scratching their
heads, wondering how and
where further funds may be
raised if the war against China is
to be continued.

Consulted on the subject, the Finance Ministry blandly stated
that it could not hope to save
more than Yen 180,000,000 in the
current general and special accounts. That was before the tension arose between Japan and Soviet Russia. Since then considerable sums have had to be spent
on troop movements etc., so that
the position has become even more
serious than it was at first feared.

The Cabinet will hold a special
meeting shortly to devise ways and
means of meeting the latest
emergency that has confronted
the country, but those who have
an intimate knowledge of the true
situation in Japan fail to see how
the money can be raised. For one thing, the people have given as much as they can. Let down by
the militarists more times than
can be imagined over the "successful conclusion of the war," with

its attendant rewards to those who
helped to finance the campaign,
even the most patriotic of the Nipponese have had enough of it
and are not inclined to be exploit-
ed any further.

WHAT then will be the next
step to be taken by the Japanese Government—a Government that is
purely military? Used to having
things their own way Japan's war
lords will not be pleased with any
opposition; but by now the civilian
population have become equally
determined to spend no more on a
war that was not of their asking.
If the Government should deem it
desirable and expedient to fully
enforce the provisions of the National Mobilisation Bill, what will
the next move be on the part of
the civilians?

The answer should not be far to
seek, but it would nevertheless be
interesting to see (or rather hear)
what excuses the spokesmen of Nippon will have
to offer to the world when the
time comes for the
"Show down," for
it is generally expected that this
will come about in the not too far
distant future.

AND while we are on the subject
of the consequences of the
Sino-Japanese hostilities, let us
also examine the situation in China. A totally different outlook!
The country has grown more
united than in any period of her
history. The morale of the people
remains at the highest pitch and
the future is viewed, not in dread
as is the case with Japan, but
hopefully.

China, confident of ultimate
victory, has plans for the rehabilitation and reconstruction of
her vast territories... work when
completed, that will put her on an
equal footing with the most modern
countries in the world.

Atlantic Air
Services

"WON'T BE LONG
NOW"

PUBLIC INTEREST IN UNITED STATES

"It won't be long now," is the title of a cartoon in a New York newspaper recently showing the air above the Atlantic buzzing with aircraft. This expresses the general feeling here regarding the inauguration of regular Transatlantic air services. The present flights are rapidly completing the education of the public to such services, but inquiries
made indicate that the possibility of their expectations being realized this summer is slender, says The Times.

The tone of official utterances is that the Americans would begin weekly return flights this year if the British were ready to do the same, but as they say the British are not prepared—and the contract between Imperial Airways and Pan-American Airways stipulates that neither shall start before the other is ready—the Americans must wait too.

This, however, does not reflect the position accurately. Only one of the six 72-seater Boeing flying-boats ordered by Pan-American Airways for the Atlantic service has been completed, and this one is undergoing radical alterations
since it was found in a trial flight
that its single rudder was insufficient to control the huge machine with its 152ft. of wingspread.

One good authority who recently saw the machine at Seattle, said
it would not be ready for the air before September. One of the remaining five machines, each of which will have a range of 5,000 miles, is nearing completion, but the others are not.

GERMAN FLIGHTS

The success of the "pick-a-back"
seaplane's flight has created great interest, and it is hoped that after the next Atlantic flight with a land machine, which Imperial Airways are planning, some of the Empire flying-boats, which have been specially strengthened, will also be seen here. The claims of other competitors are being pressed harder, but they do not seem to have got very far.

The faultless flights of German machines have made an impression, but it is believed that they do not carry pay-loads. In any case, there is no immediate prospect of the German's landing permit being extended to mail or freight services.

Generally speaking the United States policy is that there must be reciprocity in any service that is started. It is pointed out that Americans constitute 75 per cent.
of the passenger traffic on Atlantic liners and that 87 per cent. of these Americans travel in foreign ships.

Care will be taken to prevent a repetition of this in the case of air traffic and the United States will insist that at least half the aircraft on the Atlantic services must be American. Therefore, before Germans, French, or any others can begin services, reciprocal agreements must be made on lines similar to the present Imperial Airways—Pan American understanding.

CHINESE STUDENTS
FOR AMERICA

Hankow, August 8.

The first batch of Chinese students going to America to pursue higher studies sailed from Shanghai aboard the Empress of Asia yesterday.

Only about thirty students are going to the United States this summer, in sharp contrast to the large numbers in previous years, running often to four or five hundred.—(Central News).

Increase In Water
Consumption

IN SINGAPORE

The very large increase in the amount of water consumed
in Singapore has given the Municipality occasion to consider a similar increase in the supplies that should be available for consumption in the town.

The annual report of the Municipal President, Mr. W. Bartley, states that the large increase in water consumption over the last three years has again raised the question of the necessity for further supplies as the present available supply is 22,000,000 gallons a day dry weather flow only. Within 12 months the consumption should be over 20,000,000 gallons a day so that the margin of safety will be reached.

Our present sources of supply
have a potential capacity of 34,000, 000 gallons a day dry weather flow and $100,000 was provided in the estimates for 1938 for the commencement of the extension works the first step being the doubling of the capacity of the filters at Gunong Puli.

On the present programme an extra supply of 1,500,000 gallons a day will be available by the end of 1941, while the further development can be either retarded or accelerated according to the increase in demand.

It will be necessary to consider the provision of loan funds to carry out the extensions on which five and a half million dollars will have to be spent within the next four years.

Water and the extension of the sewerage system are the only two large immediate commitments
though the expenditure on infant welfare will also probably increase materially owing to increase in the number of children and the development of ante-natal work
which has just been commenced.

FINANCIAL IMPROVEMENT

Financially the year was one of steady though not of spectacular improvement. Rates, licences and rents rose by about 3 per cent.
and taxes and fees by about 10 per cent. All the trading departments had successful years but the advance in water consumption was out of all proportion to the advances in other ways, the average consumption rising from 17,020,
000 gallons per day in 1936 to 18,
900,000 gallons per day in 1937.

RABIES

After an interval of just 30 years
there was an outbreak of rabies at the end of the year. Although the Quarantine and Prevention of Diseases Ordinance is administered by Government and is not a Municipal affair the Municipality
co-operated by placing its Animal Infirmary at the disposal of Government and also one of the buildings in Farrer Park which was filled up as a station for inoculation.
After the mass inoculation of dogs
which was most successfully conducted by Government the Municipal Veterinary Department continued the inoculation of the dogs which were not dealt with during the intensive campaign.

JAPANESE PLANES
RAID CHUNGSHAN

Canton, August 8.

Three Japanese naval planes
raided Chungshan yesterday.
They released four bombs at Keung Mo, killing seven civilians and wounding 20. One house was demolished.

Later the raiders dropped two bombs at Toumoon, but no damage was done.—(Central News).

When Frederick Josep de Verteull, 51-year-old disbarred barrister, and Frank Ronald Whelan, 36, former solicitor's managing clerk, were each sentenced to five years' penal servitude at the Old Bailey, London, recently, the end was written to a tangled story, says
the Scottish Daily Express.

De Verteull and Whelan were found guilty of conspiracy to defraud and obtaining £3,100 from Harold Edward Guylee, ex-financier serving five years' penal servitude, who was led to believe the money was to be used to bribe Director of Public Prosecution officers, the Press, and High Court officials.

De Verteull is probably the first barrister to stand in the Old Bailey dock charged with defrauding a client.

The story of his downfall starts
in November, 1933, when Martin
Coles Harman, "king" of Lundy Island, city financier who controlled companies with £14,000,000
capital, was sentenced to 18 months' imprisonment in the second division for conspiracy to defraud.

De Verteull had defended Harman. His brief was marked 1500 guineas.

It was the oldest fee he had earned since his £1,000-a-year
days in India, where he defended 67 accused of murder.

HARMAN WAS EMBITTERED

Harman, losing his appeal, went to prison an embittered man.

He came out determined to get justice. Himself dealt with at the law's hands, he became a law investigator.

From March, 1935, he contacted with many people. He took statements from them.
When they were down and out
he helped them.

He claimed to have found a nest of corruption within the British legal system.

His probings led him, after two years to Mrs. Guylee, middle-aged wife of Guylee who, in March 1937,
had been sent to penal servitude.

Mrs. Guylee said De Verteull had stripped her husband of every penny he possessed.

Then Allan John Eldenow, man with a criminal past, went to Harman. He had been De Verteull's friend. They had quarrelled.

Eldenow corroborated Mrs. Guylee's story of pretended bribes.

GUERRILLA ACTIVITIES NEAR SHANGHAI YIELD RESULTS

Changhuankang, North Of Kiangyin, Captured

Anniversary Precautions: All Foreign Defence Forces To Be Mobilised

Shanghai, August 8.
Guerrilla activities near Shanghai have yielded definite results with the capture of Changhuankang on the north bank of the Yangtze River north of Kiangyin. Chinese units under the command of Colonel Chu Chi entered the town at 3 a.m. yesterday.

Following the retirement of the Japanese garrison in the town, Chao Yun-sung, puppet chairman of the Peace Preservation Committee, made good his escape.

Japanese bluejackets were out on patrol in Pootung upon receipt of the report that Chinese guerrillas attacked the building housing the Tao Dao Municipality.

Beginning on August 10, shops in the French Concession will close at 10 p.m. as a precautionary measure in view of the first anniversary of the outbreak of hostilities in Shanghai on August 13.—(International News)

Hankow, Aug. 8.
Reports that the Japanese Government is purchasing warplanes and other munitions from Canada and earmarking a large part of her gold reserves for shipment to Canada is arousing considerable interest in Chinese circles here.

Much attention is also being paid to the report that Japan is purchasing war materials from the Philippines.

Chinese circles express the hope that neither Canada nor the Philippines will supply Japan with war materials for the "mass slaughter of Chinese people."—(Reuter)

STAUNCH CHINESE RESISTANCE ON NAMOA ISLAND

Canton, August 8.
Entrenched in the hilly districts, the Chinese regular troops and militiamen on Namoa Island are still holding out against the Japanese invaders.

It is said that on one occasion the Chinese, running short of provisions, subsisted on frogs which they caught in stagnant pools and at the seaside. However, the shortage was soon relieved by provisions sent to the island from the mainland.

Despite the Japanese naval blockade, during Chinese transport corps from Jaoping, Tenghai and Swatow are keeping up a continuous supply of provisions and ammunition to their comrades fighting on the island. They cleverly steal across the sea channel and land the supplies at night.

With sufficient provisions and ammunition the Chinese fighters are continuing the resistance.

As an encouragement to have defenders, General Yu Han-mou, Pacification Commissioner for Kwangtung, has ordered that all those who have been either killed or wounded in the defence of the island be reported and that adequate pensions be granted to them or their families.

Meanwhile, General Yu, it is stated, has instructed General Liu Chih-lu, commanding the Chinese forces on Namoa Island, to lead his men to counter-attack and recover the island.—(Central News)

Mr. Macdonald Flies To Palestine

COLONIAL SECRETARY'S SURPRISE VISIT CREATES SENSATION IN ARAB AND JEWISH CIRCLES

Jerusalem, August 8.
Mr. Malcolm Macdonald, Secretary of State for the Colonies, arrived here unexpectedly by air on Saturday morning, according to an official announcement issued yesterday, and after a conference with the authorities here departed again by air for London yesterday.

The sudden visit has created somewhat of a sensation and political circles here are inclined to interpret it as an indication that British official circles have arrived at the conclusion that the situation in Palestine has reached a point where definite action must be taken.

Both Jewish and Arab circles reckon with the possibility of a fundamental change in policy as the result of Mr. Macdonald's visit, the first indications of which are anxiously awaited.—(Transocean)

PURPOSE EXPLAINED

Jerusalem, August 8.
The purpose of the flying visit of Mr. Malcolm Macdonald was revealed to a certain extent in two official communiques issued last night.

The Colonial Secretary, states the first communique, had intended for some time to confer with the High Commissioner for Palestine in order to discuss with him the prevailing situation. As it was impossible for Sir Harold Macdonald to proceed to London, Mr. Macdonald therefore utilised the opportunity presented by the adjournment of Parliament for a visit to Jerusalem.

He spent the entire day in conference with the High Commissioner and General Haining, Commander-in-Chief of the British

THE EXCHANGE MARKET

Further Advance Of The Dollar

London, August 8.
Gold valued at £1,562,000 changed hands at today's fixing making the aggregate official turnover since last Tuesday £10,819,000. The bulk of the demand continues to emanate from the continent, particularly Paris. Furthermore, French holders who previously hoarded sterling assets increasingly switching to gold.

Movements of international capital are also mainly responsible for the further advance of the dollar against sterling although the commercial buying of dollars is still much in evidence.

The opinion is widely held on the continent that the Anglo-American trade agreement is likely to be accompanied by realignment of the sterling and dollar exchange around the old parity of 4.86=2/3. In addition the belief is growing that only large-scale devaluation can extricate the world from the ever growing burden of international debts.

British control spasmodically intervened to relieve pressure on sterling.—(Reuter)

British Ship Bombed

ANOTHER ATTACK BY NATIONALIST PLANES

Paris, August 8.
The British freighter "Lake Lugano" was bombed and set on fire by insurgent planes yesterday while she was lying in Palamos harbour.

A British sailor and Spanish civilian who attempted to rescue valuables from the ship were injured by bomb splinters.

The "Lake Lugano" was owned by the Charles Sturbin Company of London.

Einstein Theory Declared Based On False Equations

The Einstein theory of relativity—that the outer regions of space among the galaxies of stars is "curved"—was criticised recently by Dr. W. B. Cartmel, of the University of Montreal.

After studying a report to the American Association for the Advancement of Science in which Dr. Herbert E. Ives of the Bell Telephone Laboratories, New York, offered experimental confirmation of the Einstein theory, Dr. Cartmel declared that both Dr. Albert Einstein and Dr. Ives had worked from a "false hypothesis" in laying the foundations for the conclusions.

The Canadian physicist, a former United States Bureau of Standards research worker, declared that his experiments and mathematical analysis of the speed and behaviour of light show that any two human beings, any two given stars, or any observer and the light source which he studies have a space which is common to them.

This space, he said, is non-Euclidean; or, in other words, has dimensions in addition to the common ones of length, width and depth.

Dr. Cartmel added that Dr. Einstein and Dr. Ives arrived at false conclusions, because they used the old mathematical equations of Maxwell, which are wrong, when they should have used those of Heaviside, the English physicist, who was one of the discoverers of radio-reflecting layers in the atmosphere.

He remarked further that space is a field of forces, like the field surrounding an electric dynamo, with properties which are common only to any given two objects, such as the sun and the earth. These forces weaken with distance, in the same way that the attraction of a magnet weakens with distance until they change their nature entirely.

SPORTING NEWS AND NOTES

"H.B." DARTS LEAGUE

Owing to the absence of the Navy from Hong Kong on the summer cruise, and the fact that various clubs, Navy and Army Senior Rank Messes are more in favour of outdoor recreation during the summer season, it was decided to run the present League as a preliminary, with the view that in the cooler weather it may be possible to conduct a League on a much larger scale and to divide the League into two sections.

The game of darts is becoming increasingly popular, and is a pastime which caters for all classes and tastes. Professional and business men, general workers, tinkers, tailors, soldiers and sailors all find relaxation in the flight of the dart towards the little round board.

The games so far played reveal that the majority of players throw a "pretty" dart, and consistent high scoring has been shown in all matches.

HIGHEST SCORE

The highest score to date is held by R. Burden, R.A.O.B. (G.C.) with 60, 20, 60—140. This is closely followed by D. Shuttler (P.O.'s Course) with 134.

The best game finish goes to S. Fleeton (Embassy Cafe) with a three dart finish of 8, 16 double 20—64. This is only one point ahead of J. Sheppard (P.O.'s Course) with 4, 19 double 20—63.

F. Rowlands hold the distinction of finishing 301 for game with scores of 73, 54, 65, 44, 53, and 1st dart miss 2nd dart double 4 a total of 17 darts.

IN SEARCH OF NEW RECORDS

Capt. G. E. T. Eyston, holder of the world's land speed record, sailed for the United States from England recently. His car Thunderbolt is already at Bonneville Salt Beds, Utah, where, as soon as the weather allows, Eyston will try to beat his own record of 311.4 miles an hour. Given good conditions he hopes to cover the flying mile in 11 seconds, which is equal to 327.27 miles an hour.

Youth's Golf Victory

NOVEL MATCH AT FANLING

Youth gained a victory at Fanling on Sunday when in a match between teams representing the "Over Forty" and "Under Forty" members the latter emerged the winners, not, however, without some striking efforts on the part of the older men.

Four ball foursomes were played under handicap and the results were:—

D. J. Gilmore and K. S. Morrison versus J. B. H. Leckie and R. G. Gray all square.

I. H. Geare and I. W. Shewan lost to G. C. Worrall and D. Humphreys.

A. E. Lissaman and R. Hancock lost to O. E. C. Marton and L. M. S. Lloyd.

R. A. Carmidge and E. Davidson lost to T. A. Pearce and H. H. Mundy.

R. K. Valentine and T. E. Pearce lost to G. Trevorton and Captain Howarth.

N. L. Smith and A. Morse beat F. H. Secones and Capt. Holmes.

G. S. Archibutt and Col. Matthews lost to D. Lloyd and J. A. D. Morrison.

A. D. Humphreys and Col. Collin versus L. Goldman and A. E. Perry all square.

R. E. Lindsell and I. Newton lost to A. C. I. Bowler and P. B. Havens.

H. E. The Governor and S. H. Dodwell beat S. J. H. Fox and A. Sommerfelt.

CAPTAIN'S CUP

In the August competition for the Captain's Cup, played at Fanling during the week-end, W. J. Mackenzie, qualified with a score of 97-18-78.

The optional pool was cancelled owing to insufficient entries.

RECORD SWIM OF DANISH MERMAID

Copenhagen, August 8. A new world swimming record in the 1,000 metre crawl event for women was established here yesterday by the Danish swimmer, Tonny Petersen, when she covered the distance in 13 minutes, 15.9 seconds.

The former record held by Helen Madison of America was 13 minutes, 23.8 seconds. (Trans-ocean).

Names In Sport

In a recent Test Match between England and Australia, a Barnett played on either side. Such a coincidence in sport, and especially in international sport, is not common. Seldom has Wimbledon seen more than two Smiths in one tournament, or a Cup Final match more than two Joneses among 22 men.

Does it follow that adaptability to any one form of sport, is not determined by a sporting gentleman's surname?

But does this always hold true? Many a Ryan has excelled in putting the shot, throwing the discus or the hammer. In short, give a Ryan anything heavy and he will make a good job of throwing it.

Even more contradictory evidence appears in the case of four Millers. The surname implies that some distant ancestor, ground wheat into flour. The surname in America today is synonymous with running a fast quarter of a mile!

THE MILLERS

Erwin Miller, of the University of Southern California, ran a quarter mile in 47 seconds flat on June 18. On quality of performance, he is the second fastest man in the world today over a quarter-mile.

Wilbur Miller, negro of Compton Junior College, California, ranks fourth in the world on the strength of a "quarter" in 47.1 seconds on April 2.

Charlie Miller, of the University of California, ran a "quarter" in 47.7 seconds on March 20.

Sam Miller, of the University of Indiana, placed in the final of the "Big Ten" quarter-mile championship. He runs the "quarter" in well under 49 seconds and has yet to show of his best.

HONG KONG RECORD

Is there a Miller in Hong Kong to try for the local quarter-mile record? It stands today at 53.6 seconds.

The Browns are also good quarter-milers. With a backbone comprising British record-holder A.G. K. Brown, the Texan twins Elmer and Delmer Brown, and Eddie Brown of New York they could give the Millers a good run for their money in a mile relay.

CIANO TROPHY RACE WON BY GERMAN

Rome, August 8. The difficult Italian automobile race in Livorno for the Count Ciano Trophy was won yesterday by the German driver, Hermann Lang, driving a Mercedes Benz.

The Italian, Farina, gained second place in an Alfa-Romeo.

The average speed for the 232 kilometres stretch was 139 kilometres per hour.

The German driver Von Brauchsch, who crossed the line first, was disqualified because he had run off the course in attempting to pass and spectators had assisted him to get his car back into the track.—(Trans-ocean).
